Elizabeth Rosner (Dr. Roz) retired from higher education to create her own college coaching practice, Debt Free Degree with Dr. Roz. In this episode, she recounts the struggles along her journey that shaped who she is today and how she endured and overcame them through her courage, determination, and strong faith. She also shares how her seemingly random life experiences prepared her perfectly for the life of passion and purpose she now lives. Dr. Roz details not only how she earned three degrees, including her Ph.D. by only taking one thousand dollars in student loans, but how she now offers so many others the gift of financial freedom by teaching students to create wealth by graduating fully debt-free. Her story is inspiring, her wisdom encouraging, and her passion engaging.

During our conversation, Dr. Roz:

- Shares the experiences that have shaped who she is and her passion and purpose.
- Recounts her educational experience and how she graduated from higher education debt free.
- Expresses her passion for helping others earn a debt-free degree and explains how she helps people achieve it.
- Discusses her role at The King Center and the impact of that work.

After retiring from higher education, she founded her college coaching practice, Debt Free Degree with Dr. Roz. As a form of Nonviolence, her focus is teaching students to create WEALTH by graduating fully debt-free, using her proven G.R.I.T. blueprint, strategies, and accountability system.

She attended her first training with The King Center in April 2018 and was immediately devoted to Dr. King's philosophy and methodology of Nonviolence³⁶⁵. It is not hyperbole to say that Nonviolence has impacted every facet of her life. Now, her mission is to incorporate Nonviolence into schools and universities, joining other practitioners across the globe to create The Beloved Community.
